WE NOMINATE

John Archibald Wheeler, one of America's pioneering men of science, who year after year—together with his associates in this country and abroad—continues to expand the frontiers of scientific knowledge. This week reports filtered back to Princeton of the address Wheeler, a Princetonian for the past 15 years, delivered last month in London where he spoke as Vice-President of the International Union of Physics and participated in a general assembly of physicists as one of the five official U.S. delegates appointed by the Department of State. In his talk the 43-year old University Professor, a "father of the atomic age," raised the question of whether or not the fundamental units in nature are "particles" or "fields" such as gravitation, or electromagnetism.

The expression of carefully thought-out, and possibly disturbing, theories is hardly a new experience for the Florida-born Wheeler. As early as 1934, after he had taken his doctorate at Johns Hopkins, he was concentrating on nuclear fission and elected to study at the University of Copenhagen under the eminent Danish physicist, Niels Bohr. Five years later, when Bohr was a welcome fugitive here, the two collaborated in working out the mechanism of nuclear fission which led directly to the development of the atomic bomb. From that time forward, until he helped with the Manhattan Project's declassification of data bearing on atomic energy, he held a series of key laboratory and advisory posts.

One of the four scientists singled out for post-World War II fellowships awarded by the Guggenheim Foundation in recognition of outstanding creative achievement, Wheeler in 1947 created a stir by outlining in a Cooper Union address the possibility of a new type of fission of uranium, or heavier elements, in which the energy liberated would be 50 per cent greater than that released in the A-bomb. In 1949, using the Selective Service Electronic Calculator of the International Business Machines Corporation, he and his colleagues completed more than 12,000,000 calculations in producing the mathematical equivalent of a slow motion-picture of the atom-splitting process.

Wheeler, a consultant to the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission and in 1950-51 on leave from his university duties to assist with defense projects at the Los Alamos, (New Mexico) Laboratory, was a principal in the now celebrated "Princeton H-Bomb Meeting" of 1951 that set scientists squarely on the trail leading to the successful test-explosion in the Pacific. Called here in 1938 from the University of North Carolina, Wheeler was advanced to a full professorship in 1947, the year before he initiated Princeton's cosmic-ray program. Since 1951 Wheeler has been closely identified with the University's James Forrestal Research Center—and in recent years has lectured extensively before scientific groups and at other educational institutions.

For his explorations in the realm of physics; for his contributions to this Nation's well-being at time when it must be as much concerned with its own self-preservation as it is with the great humanitarian ideals of Western Civilization; for his ability and willingness to share his profound knowledge with others; he is our nominee for "Busyness Barometer?". It is still too early to determine just what sort of a summer it is business-wise—or in any other respect. However, a comparison of receipts from the Borough's parking meters for the past three Julys suggest as many different summertime thoughts: (1) the parking situation in the Borough's business district has been eased slightly, (2) the metered areas haven't been as "busy" in 1954 as they were in 1953 or 1952 and (3) there is little difference between one July and the next in Princeton.

Receipts from parking meters in July, 1952, came to $3,348.73. The following July they jumped to $3,697.70 and this past month they amounted to $3,255.24.

Dials On the Way. All new telephones being installed in Princeton by the telephone company and phones worked on by repairmen are now being outfitted with dials—pointing the way to the time when the Princeton-1 will go into effect.

The transition began in May and officials of the telephone company report that complete conversion from manual to dial system usually takes about two years.

Political Stimulant. A veto by Governor Meyner has made it a strong probability that voters in the Township will elect not one but three Township committee members at the polls in November.

The bill which the governor rejected would have extended the "Freeze Act" (which retains the 1940 census as the basis for the size of township committees), but it applied only to Mercer County, one of a number of factors which make the situation uncertain at present.

Is Usually Built On a Plan

Home ownership, a business of your own, education for your children, retirement income, a vacation trip—they are most often achieved by sound financial planning.

Regular saving, wise investment, building up credit to make possible the right loan at the right time—they are all part of sound planning.

Sido L. Ridolfi, he indicated at the same time that he might approve a bill extending the "Freeze Act" for the whole state.

The legislature has recessed until November 15, but the governor is hopeful that an interim session may be called as early as next week. While a statewide extension of the "Freeze Act" is not top priority legislation, such a bill might be passed, thereby returning matters to status quo.

Another question still to be clarified is the manner in which the additional candidates will be nominated. Township officials understand at present that the local party committeemen and committee men for each party will select their respective candidates. The race would also be open to write-in candidates.

Salzman Considering Race. Mayor Albert Salzman of the Township said this week that he is "still considering" a request that he change his mind and enter the race should the five-man governing body become a reality.

Mr. Salzman, who has served for 15 years on the Township Committee, is not running for reelection to his present post. However, he said that the prospect of an increased committee would change the picture.

Mayor Salzman gave as his reasons for considering the race his continuing interest in the Township and the fact that a five-man committee elected in November would retain only John H. Wallace Jr. and Richard H. Wood as experienced members. Mr. Wood began his first term last January.

At present, each party in the Township has only one candidate running for the committee. John F. McCarthy Jr. was nominated by the Democrats without opposition, while Ralph S. Mason defeated former committeeman Bertrand L. Gulick Jr. in the Spring Republican primary.

Mr. Mason and Mr. McCarthy are running for the seat held by Mr. Salzman, who is a Republican. Mr. Wood is a Democrat and Dr. Wallace a Republican.

Rampant Rumors. The Nation's press continues to insist that Dr. Henry DeWolf Smyth, on leave from Princeton University while serving with the Atomic Energy Commission and the sole member of the A.E.C. to vote against revoking Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer's security clearance, will be back in Princeton sometime during the early part of the university year, which officially opens September 19th.

The University and Dr. Smyth have remained silent. Reliable spokesmen, supposedly "close to the A.E.C.," have vociferously belittled the issue by insisting that Professor Smyth will not leave Washington in the foreseeable future. While no one of the "insiders" has attempted to define just what he means by "foreseeable," it is reasonable to expect that Dr. Smyth will soon return to the campus.

In the same general area Newsweek Magazine has dredged up another, and infinitely more speculative "Princeton angle." In an innocuously named column, headed "Countrywide: Ticking It Off," Newsweek stated: "The trustees of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, which atomic scientist J. Robert Oppenheimer heads, were preparing to take up the subject of his fitness to continue in that post. The question would come up at a trustees' meeting in September as a result of the recent decision of the Atomic Energy Commission to lift Oppenheimer's security clearance. What the trustees would decide was still uncertain."

The one unequivocal comment Town Topics obtained in "following up" on the above paragraph was "preposterous."

It's New to Us

Salad, Beer and Hens. The list refers to your objects for summer pleasure now available at The Flower Basket—we're not outlining a barbecue menu.

The salad is served up in a new glazed pottery salad bowl made with a finish that looks like a kind of granite-ware. We saw it in black and grey, but it comes in a grey and maroon as well. The bowl stands on a four-legged copper brace with legs made of copper circles. The servers that come with the set are waxed wood in the Oriental manner. Bowl and servers cost $3.75, at 136 Nassau.

Californians spend most of their time designing informal eating arrangements. Latest in experience is the ceramic set consisting of beer mugs, milk or juice mugs, and the containers to hold the beverages. The finish of this ware looks like chocolate-bit ice cream; pale chocolate with a splatter of darker flecks. In the center of most pieces is a dual of coral to brighten it up.

There are "glasses," besides the conventional mugs. These are merely straight cylinders of pottery without handles. The containers have no handles either, but one-quart pitcher, sugar and creamer all have pinched sides to hold your hand. There is a decanter with the set, too, by the way—it's not pinched. Ash-trays and cigarette urns complete the whole.

The hens we spoke of will never be impaled on anybody's barbecue—not even in California. They are milk glass, nesting comfortably on a black wrought iron rack, two of them facing each other. Lift off the hen's back and you find a candy dish, a container for old buttons, a repository for household monies—anything you like. The set is called "Charcoal and Snow"—black and white, to you.

Another pair of hens—these with black spots—make a creamer and sugar. Squashed hens, in outline only, are useful for small ashtrays in a country-style living-room.

Fall jewelry in The Flower Basket runs to gold filagree, like the $3.30 bracelets, some narrow with rows or pearls inlaid, some wide with merely the filagree pattern for accent.

A belt clip looks like a tiny doll's pocketbook. It's gold or silver mesh, about one inch square. Open it and find inside a rosary, white beads with silver chain and cross.

Miss Florence Phelan is the new manager of The Flower Basket. She attended the Rutgers School of Floral Culture and Design and is well-known in the floral trade. She has been an exhibitor in various schools in Newark, New York and at many flower shows.

Cord, Wool, and Nylon. Corduroy jackets line up well with wool skirts, slacks or Bermuda shorts. The jackets we found at Bailey's, 11 Witherspoon, come in two colors that usually go with everything: a rich cream color and a good strong autumn red. They have two large patch pockets, flared, and one small pocket. The jackets are lined and cut with a vent at the bottom like a kilt-plaid in a skirt. The price is $12.95.

A corduroy vest for $1.98 is made with tent-stripes of black, white and a mixed grey. Black buttons close the front.

Bailey Associates have turned out a Bermuda short in glad your choice of two different plaids. The fabric is 65% cotton, 35% wool, the price is $7.95. These shorts are medium-weight, good for fall's cool days.

Nylon makes a petticoat, tricot at the top yoke, nylon taffeta for the circle skirt. It's a white nylon, with white net under-ruffles. —Continued on Page 8 local insurance field by a Hopewell firm, and of the imminent move of one of the town's established children's shops to new, expanded quarters.

The Community Wine and Liquor Store at 18 Witherspoon Street has been sold by Mrs. Helen Jambor to John Gellner, who has been in the liquor business in Flemington for 16 years. The new owner plans to increase telephone and free delivery service. The store will be managed by Mr. Gellner's son, Walter, who is planning to move to Princeton. He is married and has one daughter.

The Hopewell firm of Herbert W. Voorhees, which represents the Aetna Casualty and Surety and the Selected Risks Insurance Companies, has entered the Princeton insurance field to write all forms of insurance for these companies.

Mr. Voorhees is currently devoting his time to serving as president of the New Jersey Farm Bureau, so that he the Princeton and Hopewell business will be managed by Ellsworth deG. Gosling. Mr. Voorhees and Mr. Gosling have between them some 35 years of experience in the insurance field. Mr. Gosling is a graduate of the Aetna home office school.

Bellows to Move. The premises at 208-210 Nassau Street at the corner of Moore will be the new home of the firm of Bellows, Lillian and Lee. Announcement of the move to greatly expanded quarters came last week after the fourth anniversary of the opening of Bellows' children's shop at 20 Nassau Street.

A fast-traveling fire whupped through Princeton Junction last Friday and there wasn't a thing the Plainsboro Fire Department could do about it.

Summoned to the Junction Station, the Plainsboro volunteers waited for the arrival of a New York-bound train on which State Police reported a fire in the mailcar. The train whistled through the Junction without pausing.

Later it was found out that trainmen had doused the fire before reaching the Junction, where the fire was not originally scheduled to stop.

The building formerly housed the Acme Supermarket. Converted into a children's shop, the air-conditioned building will provide approximately four times as much space as Mr. and Mrs. Bellows have had at their present two smaller stores.

The move will start on Wednesday and the owners hope that their new store will be in operation by the following Monday, August 22. Among the features will be all open display, an enlarged sales staff, and increased parking space, while the store will continue its merchandising and window display policies.

A separate department for boys up to age 12 will be established and there will be toyette and junior mix departments as well as merchandise for girls from high chair through college age.

Bamberger Appointment. Joseph Chira, a veteran retailer who has been serving as a buyer and assistant merchandise manager at Gimbel's, New York, has been appointed assistant manager of Bamberger's soon-to-open Princeton Shopping Center Store, it was reported this week by Bamberger President John C. Williams.

"We are delighted to have Mr. Chira join our organization," Mr. Williams said. "He has held a number of important merchandising positions with large department stores as well as appliance, children's wear and women's specialty stores. This well-rounded experience is particularly helpful in the operation of a complete department store like Bamberger's, Princeton."

Mr. Chira is an alumnus of Harvard College and took his master's degree in Harvard's School of Business Administration. Among his "extra-curricular interests" are tennis golf and the New York Baseball Giants.

"Scarsdale Ordinance." The Township has become the second municipality in the country to adopt an ordinance barring the construction of "look-alike" houses.
The ordinance is a copy of unusual legislation enacted in Scarsdale, N. Y., in an attempt to encourage community growth while controlling strictly the manner in which it grows. The ordinance does not affect existing or previously authorized developments in the Township, but it is likely to have far-reaching implications on future home-building.

The ordinance spells out six characteristics and if houses have any three of them the same, the homes will be considered to look alike. Prospective builders will have to take the look-alike provisions into consideration on the basis of nearness to other possibly similar homes.
Because of the importance of the legislation, Mayor Albert Salzman and Committeeman John H. Wallace Jr. held up a final vote on the ordinance for two days last week in an effort to reach the third member of the governing body, Richard H. Wood, who was on vacation.
Mr. Salzman reported that the ordinance had been discussed previously with Mr. Wood. He said that he was sure that the legislation as passed would be satisfactory with Mr. Wood, who is the lone Democrat on the Committee.

In Support. The following letter praising the Township Committee for passing the "Scarsdale Ordinance" has been received from Stanley C. Smoyer, former president of the Republican Club: To the Editor of Town Topics:
The Township Committee of Princeton Township deserves the thanks of the citizens of the community for passing last week an ordinance preventing the construction of so-called "look-alike" houses. This is a forward-looking piece of legislation of the type necessary to preserve the character of our community. It will not only benefit the present home owners of Princeton but, in the long run, will also help to protect the value of the houses that are built under the new ordinance.
I hope that the governing bodies and the planning boards of both the Township and the Borough will continue to seek out all possible means of preventing undesirable development of the community.
STANLEY C. SMOYER
Newlin Road
"Summer's End." The Westminster Choir College will ring down the curtain on its successful three-week summer session this weekend with a three-day music festival that will give the Princeton Community opportunities to hear the school's two divisions, the Professional School and Vocal Camp, present mixed choral programs.
Students in the Professional School are men and women actively engaged in music in schools, colleges, churches and community

The Rain Came
Monday's day-long rain brought tremendous cheer and relief to farmers worried about parched crops and pastures and to home-owners who watched their lawns and gardens wither during the prolonged dust-howl stretch.
The day's downfall, 2.09 inches in this area, was greatest single day's fall in more than a year—since July 23, 1953, when 2.84 inches were recorded. The first ten days of August have already produced a total rainfall of 4.04 inches, only a half-inch below normal rainfall for the entire month of August.
The steady, soaking rain undoubtedly saved the late August and September crops, but the drought has already produced shortages and probably higher prices for the consumer.

enterprises throughout the country. The Vocal Camp consists of young people of high school and junior college age who receive basic instruction in choral and instrumental music and also serve as a "laboratory" for certain classes offered to the professional students.
Friday evening at 8:00, in the Westminster Playhouse, the Vocal Camp, singing under the direction of Harold Hedgpeth, will draw upon both classic and modern works and will present a composition of David Stanley York, a member of the Choir College Faculty. The Professional School will sing Saturday evening in the College Chapel, with Dr. John Finley Williamson conducting four major choral works.
The Choir College's summer enrollment has numbered 360 students, including residents of 30 states, Puerto Rico, Canada, Cuba and Formosa. Among the students from this area: Edna Earle Gunn, Carolyn E. Brown, Lynn Clayton, Lee Williamson Gihring, Margaret Maxwell, Larry Oncley, John A. Stokes, Janet Thorsen and Molly Wade.
The Week's Births. It was daughters to two-to-one during the week at Princeton Hospital, with the Hospital birth-roster listing ten girls and five boys. Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Hun Names Hollenbach. The appointment of Charles R. Hollenbach, retiring principal of Atlantic City High School, to the faculty of the Huo School was announced this week by Dr. Paul R. Chesebro, headmaster. Hun will open its fall term September 21.
Mr. Hollenbach will teach in the history department and give a course in public speaking. He will also assist with school publications.
A former president of the New Jersey Secondary School Principals Association, Mr. Hollenbach was called to Atlantic City High in 1919 as a teacher in American history and economics in 1919. He became assistant principal in 1936 and three years later was chosen as the school's principal.

Mr. Hollenbach received his bachelor's degree from the University of Pennsylvania in 1916, and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. He received his M.A. in American history from Pennsylvania and has done graduate work in education at Penn and New York University, and in economics at Columbia.
Mason Honored. In seeking to promote better understanding with those groups that frequently work in close contact with the legal profession, the New Jersey Bar Association has brought into being seven standing conference committees, one of which will be headed by Ralph S. Mason, Princeton attorney and currently a candidate for the Princeton Township Committee. Mr. Mason will chairman the committee charged with meeting with the representatives of the New Jersey Association of Insurance Men.

Theodore D. Vreeland, 130 Nassau Street, is one of the 111 New Jersey attorneys who have recently been designated counselors-at-law as a result of their successful passage of the annual May examinations.

Thorne vs. Wiley. Freeholder Edward A. Thorne, Director of the Mercer County Industrial Commission, has sharply criticized Senator Alexander Wiley for his opposition to the proposed 40-foot channel in the Delaware River.

In a wire to the Wisconsin senator, Thorne said that the citizens of this area "fear that your efforts to delay or prevent this vital economic and defense project are governed by narrow sectional interests and ignore the major national advantages of a deep channel."

Jaycee Success. Hot dogs, ice sticks, drinks galore, relay races and songfests—such were the highlights of the picnic sponsored by the Princeton Junior Chamber of Commerce last Saturday at Washington's Crossing State Park for some 50 youngsters from the nearby New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute.

Robert Mayer, president of the local Junior Chamber, that now has some 30 active members, expressed his appreciation to all those who helped make the event possible and emphasized that "it is inspiring to know that every merchant we approached contributed to the picnic."

The guests of honor, ranging in age from five to 14, enjoyed a thoroughly enjoyable day through the interest and generosity of the following establishments: the Acme Super-Market, Army and Navy Store, A & P, Balt Bakery, Colonial Bakery, Cox's Store, Food Mart, Kresge's, Sunray Drug, Wine and Game Shop, Woolworth's and Wright Store. Sports equipment was made available by the Princeton Y.M.C.A.

River Road Aquatics. The numbers are going "up, up, up" at the children's pool maintained by the River Road Recreation Association in Montgomery Township near the Rocky Hill-Somerville Road, according to statistics released this week by Miss Anita Stone of the Recreation Association.

Some 1,500 young people, from five to 18, have already taken advantage of the opportunities offered by the Association and no less than 100 "non-swimmers" of a few weeks ago have been promoted to more advanced groups.

Innovations in the program run from thrice-weekly life-saving classes for all qualified children (Mon., Wed., Fri. at 11:00 a.m.) to "bridge sessions" for poolside mothers. Handicrafts instruction is being provided for both boys and girls, while on cloudy days—when swimming might lose some of its appeal—there are motion pictures for one and all.

"Historic Community." The 17th General Council of the World Presbyterian Alliance, which adjourned late last week after 10 days of reports, addresses and resolutions, called on Princeton Theological Seminary to supply its headquarters and its new president and then reached behind the "Iron Curtain" for its most controversial speaker.

Dr. John A. Mackay, the Seminary's distinguished president, was elected president of the Alliance until the next General Council, tentatively set for 1959. Dr. Mackay, who recently completed a term as Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., had described Princeton in his opening address as "the most historic community in the United States so far as Presbyterianism is concerned."

The conference's controversial figure was Dr. Joseph L. Hromadka, an Alliance vice-president who once taught at the Seminary and now serves as dean of the Theological Faculty in Prague, Czechoslovakia. He was one of the three Council delegates, from Czechoslovakia, the only Iron Curtain country to send a delegation.

Dr. Hromadka, who has been widely accused of collaborating with his country's Communist

A DISTINGUISHED PRINCETONIAN AND HER DAUGHTER IN LONDON: Mrs. Charles W. Link, Chambers Terrace, formerly Executive Director of the Princeton Y.W.C.A. is presently vacationing in England and is seen here with her daughter, Mrs. John L. Hady, of the Kent Place School, Summit, N. J. (center), during a recent visit to the historic Tower of London. On Tower Green, (left) to the scaffold, Mrs. Link and Mrs. Hady were asked by BBC commentator Louise Morley to record their impressions for BBC's North American Service.

The New Jersey Poll

FEWER THAN ONE IN 10
FAVOR ADMITTING CHINA TO THE UNITED NATIONS

How do rank and file voters across the state of New Jersey feel about admitting Communist China to the United Nations Organization?

Results of a statewide survey just completed by New Jersey Poll staff reporters show that more than 4 out of every 5 voters in the state are opposed to admitting Communist China to the U. N. Fewer than 1 in 10 say they would favor such a step.

In other words, those who are opposed to admitting Communist China to the U. N. outnumber by a margin of 9 to 1 those who favor the idea.

These were the findings when New Jersey Poll staff reporters asked a representative cross-section of the state's voters:

"Would you favor or oppose admitting Communist China as a member of the United Nations Organization?"

Favor	9%
Oppose	82%
No opinion	9%

Highlight of today's survey findings is that opinion on the question of admitting Communist China to the U. N. is highly uniform among all segments of the state's adult population examined.

For example, at least 3 out of every 4 in each population group analyzed say they would be opposed to admitting Communist China as a member of the United Nations Organization.

And in no single group examined do as many as 16 in each 100 say they would be in favor of doing so.

These groups include men and women, and people in all city sizes, age groups, occupations, educational levels, and political parties.

This uniformity of opinion on the matter of admitting Communist China to the U. N. is best shown in the breakdown of the vote by political party affiliation.

Favor	8%	Dem.	12%
Oppose	86%	Rep.	82%
No opinion	6%	Ind.	7%

President Eisenhower has stated that he is opposed to admitting Communist China to the U. N. until it has proved its good faith with deeds. He also stated that he believed 95 per cent of the American people agree with him. (Not too bad an estimate, judging from today's survey results.)

Admission to the U. N. is decided by the U. N.'s General Assembly, where there is no veto. The General Assembly acts only upon recommendations from the Security Council of the U. N., where a veto can be used. The United States is a member of the U. N. Security Council.

Altogether, 21 countries have been denied admission to the U. N., either by Communist veto or by Western majority votes.

regime, denied flatly that he is a Communist. He insisted that he has returned to Czechoslovakia after World War II to serve his people as best he could. "I have never been a Communist, and my people know it," he declared.

The Czech clergyman also had a disturbing message in his address on the Council's main theme. "Christian nations are coming to lend the world the so-called Christian civilization, but itself in disintegration," he told the conference's 400-odd delegates, adding that the shift in leadership was probably the Christians' own fault.

In a message to the Alliance's 40,000 members in 42 countries, the Council expressed its attitude toward the problem of a state-dominated church. "Be loyal to the government of the nation in which you live, but if a decision is forced, remember that as a Christian you must obey God rather than man," the message said.

The Council's other accomplishments included merging its ladies' auxiliary, the Women's International Union, into the main body as the Department of Women's Work. It also adopted a new constitution and a new set of by-laws and voted to appoint a commission to consider the place of women in the ministry.

Besides Dr. Mackay, the only speaker on the main conference theme was Dr. Henry P. Van Dusen (Princeton '19), President of New York's Union Theological Seminary. Speaking on the relation of the Presbyterian Council to the forthcoming meeting of the World Council of Churches at Evanston, Ill., he placed the Presbyterian churches squarely in the middle of the trend toward Protestant unity.

Miscellaneous. Last Saturday 78 members attended the 35th Annual Reunion of the Descendants of William Henry Grove, who formerly resided near Kingston. Among the officers and committee-members who made arrangements for the meeting, which was held in Pennington, were a trio of Princetonians: Mrs. Percival B. Silvester Sr., Mrs. Percival B. Silvester Jr. and Mrs. Robert H. Silvester. Members and guests represented the Princeton Area as well as Hamilton Square, Exing Township, Trenton, Pompton Lakes and Springfield, Pa.

Thomas A. Blue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Blue, 299 Western Way, has started his basic training at Fort Dix with Company B, 272d Infantry Regiment. Mr. Blue is a graduate of the Morris-town School, Morristown, N. J., and also studied at the University of Arizona.

Peter M. Spackman, son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Spackman, "Nervick," Bayard Rustin, has been promoted to the grade of corporal in the Army Reserve. Spackman, a radio operator with his unit, is completing on-the-job summer training with elements of the 78th (Jersey Lightning) Division at Fort Bragg, N. C.

A summer survey of enrollments in the "How to Do It" courses offered last Winter and Spring by the Y.M.C.A. showed that a total of 85 persons enrolled in the eight courses that included "Boys or Building a Small Home," "Rug Hooking" and "Art for Toddlers." IT'S NEW TO US one banded in blue, one in pink for $3.95.

The nylon fabric in Spellbound is knit so that it will stretch to any proportions. Spellbouds, we had better inform you, are bric-a-brac stretch panties, the manufacturers call them. They look about big enough for a good-sized doll, but apparently they will stretch to cover any size. They come in blue, yellow, pink or white for $1.95.

Gossard has a new girle, shaped for a true fit. It is designed in a 14-16 length, and made of flexible rubber, rayon and nylon. It's banded in front, but lightly so. The same company makes a very light panty girle which Bailey's is selling for $6.95. It has a front panel of satin laces.

with nylon tissue, and mesh elastic banding the leg. Wearers of the flat shoe will be interested in a new, all-leather model for $4.98. It comes in red or black. One style features a narrow buckle strap, another style is a pump with low-cut vamp.

Lining, Skirting and Trim. Most of the new girls' winter coats at The Little Clothes Line, Palmer Square West, are lined with rayon and millum means warmth and light-weight. The coats are cut for a princess, many of them in bright red. Navy velvet underlies the collar and a double row of buttons goes down the front.

A grey princess coat has a row of yellow and grey outlining its collar. Another in grey has a similar collar, banded with grey velvet. All coats at The Little Clothesline are cut and sewn to grow with their child. Prices are in the range from $29.95 to $34.95.

School's approach brings out the dark cottons for young scholars. The plaids are here, the cherry reds and deep greens and gulds, rich and colorful as an autumn woods.

Cherry combines with a narrow stripe to make the pique one dress. Charcoal and pinkcheck grey go together in another, with red bands to lighten the key. The jumper effect is here again, mostly with white sleeves and yoke.

Rickrack and colored binding trim the skirt of a given cotton that has a narrow wale to it, like corduroy. Another jumper dress shows a mustard shade with red and green to keep it company. Red celico, like a country-store bolt of cloth, has been snatched to add to its old-fashioned look.

For a little girl with lots of her own color, try an unusual dress made of black and tan with white collar to give it life.

One of the gayest dresses on The Clothes Line rack is a grey "jumper" with white chalk-like faces scrawled all over it. They are just primitive circles with dot eyes and nose and a semi-circular mouth, like the faces of a kindergarten draws. A red skirt top sets it off. You may have seen this one in Vogue.

Small spoons of thread hang from the waist of a dress in grey or navy. The spoons are red, green and blue, the dress very plain and trim.

Two stuffed dolls have joined the large Clothes Line family. They are brother and sister, each one six or seven inches tall and dressed appropriately in black and orange. Each wears a turtle-necked shirt and a jockey cap.

A stuffed felt chipmunk has a yarn tail twice as long as his own small self, and at least twice as bushy. He was resting quietly in the Clothes Line window when we saw him—probably exhausted from carrying that tail around.

paid a $12 speeding fine in Borough Traffic Court. This week's cases, which included six out-of-town speeders, were heard by Township Magistrate Louis Gerber in place of Dr. Paul R. Chesbro, Borough Magistrate.

One of the summer season's perennial highlights—the Annual Outing of the Princeton Lions Club—was held at the Squatters Club on Quaker Road. The popularity of the yearly event among the community's business and professional men was indicated by the number of "absentees" recorded in the business districts.

The Y.M.C.A. is considering scheduling another of its baseball trips later this month. Having visited Philadelphia, Brooklyn and the Yankee Stadium, the trip under consideration would be to the Palo Alto grounds. More than 125 boys have gone on trips earlier in the season.

New Bridges and Piers. Two bridges which the New Jersey Turnpike Authority figures will be "worth their weight in gold" as time-savers to traffic-narried motorists are under construction.
They are scheduled for completion within two years.

One will extend for a distance of two miles across Newark Bay, leading from the turnpike interchange at Newark Airport to the Holland Tunnel. It is estimated that by 1957, more than 15 million vehicles will use the bridge each year, each saving from 35 to 50 minutes, depending on the volume of traffic over the present, frequently-clogged route.

The other bridge will open the midwest to New Jersey via a series of turnpikes. Connecting with the Pennsylvania pike from Burlington to Edgely, Pa., it will be a mile and a quarter long and six lanes in width.

Engineers estimate that by 1957, 10,000 cars and trucks a day will use this new link, covering in 45 minutes a journey that now takes two hours through Philadelphia environs. At a mere $1 an hour for a driver's time, it is estimated that the two bridges will save motorists $20,000,000 in their first year of operation.

Completion of the bridge will allow motorists to go from Maine to the Ohio border virtually entirely by turnpike. When the Ohio and Indiana pikes are completed, the route will be open to Chicago.

MURRAY THEATRE

The double bill of "Alice in Wonderland" and "Gerald Loves Sandra Loves Paxon" continues on through Saturday evening at the air-conditioned Murray Theatre on the University Campus. The box office telephone for the University Players is 3539.

For the final week of their season, the Players will perform one of Shakespeare's most beloved "golden comedies", the famous "Twelfth Night".

Heading the cast of characters who examine the subject of love in the setting of the magical island of Illyria is Viola, one of Shakespeare's most pleasing creations. The part will be taken by Pat Crawford in the Players' production.

Viola's lover, Duke Orsino, will be played by George Petrarca, while Lelia Barry will play Olivia, who vies for the duke's love. Philip Minor is cast as Malvolio, the steward, and Mario Siletti will take the part of Feste, the melancholy clown whose songs set the tone of the play.

Others in the cast will include Frank Schmertz (Sir Toby Belch), Thomas Rimer (Sir Andrew Aguecheek), Georgine Hall (Maria), Ronald Harper (Sebastian), William Pierce, James Baker, Munroe Wade, Charles Robinson, Lorin Zissman and Alex Glass.

The Players will have as their director John Wilders, an exchange graduate student from Cambridge who has recently been named an instructor in Princeton's Department of English. Mr. Wilders scored a great success this winter as Falstaff in the Theatre Intime production of "Henry IV, Part I" and has had considerable Shakespearean experience in England, where he has been an outstanding figure in Cambridge dramatics.

Question of Porpoise. It's a little difficult to set down reasons that are capable of persuading any given person that he'll like the University Players' current production of "Alice in Wonderland". But if he (or she) is relaxed and his imagination willing to travel in wonderland, the chances are it'll be a charming evening.

Individual expectations and reactions are so much a part of judging the offering, that this corner would like some additional opinion, probably from some of the considerable number of children who attended Monday's opening. Still, the verdict has to be: you'll like it if you're up to it.

Since rational comment on the irrational world does an injustice except to psychology, things like the adaption staging, costuming, music and playing might as well be the objects of appreciation.

Mario Siletti's adaption of Lewis Carroll's "Alice" and PLAYERS' VIOLA: Pat Crawford will play the part of the famed heroine of Shakespeare's romantic comedy "Twelfth Night", opening Monday at the Murray.

"Through the Looking Glass" is a real gem. He has knit various elements of the little girl's dream-world by basing it on the progression along the eight squares of the chessboard. His selection of dialogue from the book is excellent and the decision to base settings and costumes on the original Carroll illustrations has produced delightful results.

Mr. Siletti was also responsible for the fine direction and made a sweep of the evening with an amusing performance as Humpty-Dumpty. There were a number of rough spots on Monday, but the Players have shown on numerous occasions that they can iron them out by the weekend, and besides, there were enough pleasing things to satisfy most people.

Lelia Barry did a charming job as Alice, heading a cast which excelled in creating the stylized atmosphere required by the charade. Elizabeth Parrish as the —Continued on Page 14

News Of The Theatres

Red Queen and Pat Crawford as the White Queen were both effective and amusing.

The adults in the audience seemed to prefer the scene with the Mock Turtle (played by Charles Schultz) and the Gryphon (Munroe Wade), in part because it was concentrated in the more or less intelligible world of puns. Yet each of the scenes has something to recommend it and all the players deserve a hand.

The version acquires a great deal of appeal from the costuming and settings, and it was produced in full by Wayne Lawson and Hugh Hardy, respectively. Claire Mann's musical score and the incidental dancing added nice touches.

Bewildered and pleased smiles seemed about equally present as the audience left the theatre. But the fanciful treat the Players are offering ought to produce that.

G.L.S.L.P. As for the curtain-raiser, Paul Sias' new one-act "Gerald Loves Sandra Loves Paxon", it was the kind of theatre that made this corner glad to go through the looking glass.

Mr. Sias employed the device of having two stagehands comment on a playlet in rehearsal. All the ideas and devices, including an ad-lib bat in Murray Theatre, couldn't seem to add up to much, however. The underlying point was either too specialized or too uninteresting for this department, and the play wasn't funny enough.

Thomas Whedon, Pat Crawford and George Petrarcia played the respective title roles, while Ron Harper and James Baker were cast as the stagehands. Philip Minor directed.

NEW HOPE ACTOR: Murray Hamilton appears in "Stalag 17", that concludes a week's run this Saturday at the Bucks County Playhouse.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Caine Mutiny (Thurs.-Tues.) recaptures in often-vivid Technicolor photography the plot skeleton of the well-known best seller. Through no fault of the fine acting by Humphrey Bogart (as Capt. Queeg), Van Johnson (Maryk), Fred MacMurray (Keefer), Jose Ferrer (Greenwald) and others, the picture has to rest its claims on an interesting story and thrilling scenes instead of the powerful atmosphere the film might have had. Produced by Stanley Kramer. Completing a week at advanced prices.

Note. Due to booking difficulties, the name of the attraction which will follow "The Caine Mutiny" in The Playhouse was not available at press time.

BUCKS COUNTY PLAYHOUSE
"Stalag 17", with Murray Hamilton starred in the role of Sefton, continues through Saturday evening at the Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope. There will also be a matinee at 2:30 on Saturday.

Next to enter the converted barn playhouse will be "Two Blind Mice", the delightful Bella and Sam Spewack comedy satirizing bureaucracy and politics in general. It opens Monday evening for a week's run.

Jerome Cowan, resident star at the theatre, will take the role of a zany D.C. newspaperman who chances to enter the office of an obscure governmental agency, the O.S.S. — Office of Seeds and Standards. The agency, officially abolished for four years, is still being operated by two gentle old ladies, played by Dorothy Sands and Aileen Poe.

Phyllis Hill, Frank Schofield, Joseph Hardy, Manning Ross, William Jackson, Ted Clark, John Richardson, Helen Lloyd Sharp and Richard Marr are also featured. The comedy will be directed by Robert Caldwell.

Short Notes. The second in a series of children's matinees at the Bucks playhouse has been scheduled for Friday, August 20. Producer Michael Ellis will present the Playmart Children's Theatre production of "Rumplestiltskin", the fairy tale adapted with music and directed by Gustave Lambiase.

The production is designed for children between the ages of 5 and 12. Two performances, at 2 and 4 p.m., will be given, and proceeds will be given towards the building of a swimming pool for New Hope children.

John J. Crowley, who is for the fourth summer serving as general manager of the Bucks Playhouse, has been elected to the theatre's board of directors. He joins Mr. Ellis, Monte Proser, Harold Getz, Howard Hoyt and Don Walker. Mr. Crowley is head of the Orchestra Bureau of Philadelphia.

MUSIC CIRCUS

"The Boys from Syracuse", with a score by Rodgers and Hart and book by George Abbott, has launched a two-week run at St. John Terrell's Music Circus in Lambertville. The musical continues nightly (except Monday) through Sunday, August 22, with Saturday matinees at 2:30.

The occasion marks the first time the musical has been done since its Broadway run of 235 performances in 1938-39. The tuneful show is based on Shakespeare's "Comedy of Errors".

A twin brother and a twin servant unknowingly are forced to usurp their twin brothers' marital roles. The Rodgers and Hart score —Continued on Page 15

Sports In Princeton

Sports Boost. "Americans are the greatest sports kings in history"—this is the report of The Wall Street Journal following a nationwide check on the sales of sporting goods. There may be a few soft spots here and there but figures show that sports-equipment sales are topping the numerous records chalked up in 1953.

A year ago, and these are the marks that are being beaten in 1954, the total sales of sporting goods of all kinds came to $126,805,000, with golfers alone paying some $18,700,000 for their equipment. Baseball and softball consumed around $25,600,000, athletic shoes came to $14,400,000 and tennis supplies to $5,400,000.

Golf, the figures now show, has more practitioners than ever before and tennis is making a remarkable comeback after a short but marked slump in popularity. Especially noteworthy is the growth of baseball leagues for youngsters that are requiring more and more equipment of all types.

Princeton A. C. to Fore. Weather and grounds permitting, following the drought-killing downpours of early week, the Princeton A.C. is continuing its drive for a clean sweep of league honors and is engaged in a two-out-of-three championship series with the always dangerous Hopewell aggregation.

The Princetonians battled their way into the play-off finals by upsetting Montgomery Township, 2-0, in a game featured by Bruce Denner's steady two-hit hurling and the clutch hitting of Bob Montgomery, who scored the victors' first run in the second and two innings later drove in the clinching marker.

Montgomery opened the Princeton half of the second with a single, stole second and rode home on catcher Bob Denner's clean single. In accounting for Princeton's second run, Walter Wells was hit by the pitcher, promptly stole second and scored on Montgomery's single to center.

The Conquering Three. While the complete league standings have not been tabulated because of remaining make-up games, the winners of summer championship honors in the three Eagles-sponsored circuits were announced last week by Joseph E. Rauch, president of Eagles Aerie No. 2732.

In the American League the top rung of the ladder was gained by the Italian-American Sportsman's Club. The National League pennant was carried off by the Nassau Social Club, while the Zinder's entry reigned supreme in the crowd-pleasing Grips League. To these three teams go trophies in recognition of their prowess in community-wide competition.

The wind-up of the league round-robins, however, does not mean the end of summer softball in Princeton. Play-off games, for which trophies will be awarded, will follow next week and finally on Saturday, September 4th, the first annual All-Star Tripleheader on University Field.

Plans for both the play-offs and the Tripleheader will be completed Monday evening (8:30) at a meeting of all team managers at the Eagles' Home, 134 Nassau Street. As has been the case in recent years, the program for the Tripleheader will send the three league champions into action against all-star teams selected in their respective leagues.

Bowers Repeats. For the second successive year the L. C. Bowers Construction Company team painstakingly coached by B. E. Bergesen, has captured the Princeton Junior Baseball Championship, an annual fixture on the summer recreation program sponsored by the Princeton Playgrounds Committee.

Both the Bowers array and the runner-up Borden's team were turned back in their final contests of the summer season. The two-year champions were upset by a circuit's hard-luck nine, Nassau Oil, that closed out its campaign with a merited 3-4 victory over Bowers. Borden's bowed to the always-improving Matthews squad, 4-6.

Final team standings for the 1954 competition follow:

	Won	Lost
Bowers	8	3
Borden's	8	4
Matthews	4	8
Nassau Oil	3	9

In the Beginning. "If it hadn't been for Princeton, and for the foresight, interest and enthusiasm of Asa S. Bushnell, formerly Princeton University's Director of Athletics and now Commissioner of the Eastern College Athletic Conference, it is quite possible that the Bannister-Landy mile might have been just another item on the program of the British Empire Games and not the most publicized athletic event in history."

This was the opinion of an eminent sports authority after he had watched Dr. Roger Bannister, now second only to Winston Churchill in the affections of the British sporting public, collar Australia's John Landy on the final turn and whoosh to victory in 3:58.8 in last Saturday's "Mile of the Century," which thrilled an estimated 40,000,000 television viewers. Included in Bushnell is the role of a commentator.

for the show includes the songs "Falling in Love," "Sing for Your Supper" and "This Can't Be Love."

Cast in the lead roles are the twin nightclub entertainers Barmon and Royce Blackburn as the titled Greek twins, and Joey Faye and Herb Corey as the twin servants. Other featured leads include Victoria Sherry, Evelyn Ward, Mildred Cook and Ronnie Cunningham.

GRIST MILL PLAYHOUSE
"Apple of His Eye," starring Robert E. Perry and Roy Fant, is the current tenant at the Grist Mill Playhouse, located upstate on Route 206 near Andover. The production continues nightly through Saturday.

Barbara Bel Geddes and Hiram Sherman will arrive at the Grist Mill in "The Little Hut," opening Monday for a week's run including a Wednesday matinee.

The drawing room comedy is set on a desert island. The play began its career as a great hit in Paris, moved on to London and played last season on Broadway.

it left following the "Great Depression," the mile run, a traditional and often-dreaded part of any dual meet, there were even whispers the possibility of a four-minute mile. Foot-racing fans around the globe envisioned new records every time Kenyon's "Bonny Bill" Bonthron (now a resident of Princeton), Punnett's Gene Venzke, New Zealand's Jack Lovecock and others went to the mark.

In June, 1933, Palmer Stadium provided the back-drop for the "first mile of the century." The brilliant, charming Lovecock (a doctor and Olympic like Bannister and a practicing physician in New York City until his tragic death a few years back) outlegged Bonthron in the Oxford-Cambridge vs. Princeton-Cornell Meet to drop the mile mark to a new nearly incredible 4:07.6.

The Lovecock-Bonthron duel, in which the latter had lowered the American record to 4:08.7, led directly to the first in the series of Bushnell-insured and Bushnell-directed Princeton Invitation Meets that proved to be the single most important factor in "glamorizing" the mile.

Some 20 years ago—June 16, 1934—the notion was contrived with the "second mile of the century," the feature of the all-star meet planned by Mr. Bushnell and his associates. Lovecock was unavailable for the "Princeton Special" but veteran observers were positive that a year's maturity had given both Bonthron and Cunningham enough speed and power to erase the New Zealand's mark.

The only question, it seems in retrospect, was—would Cunningham get the record, or would it be the piston-legged Bonthron with the cyclonic finishing-kick?

The race itself was every bit as dramatic as last Saturday's spectacle at Vancouver, British Columbia, although over the course of the seemingly endless final quarter it was Cunningham against the clock and not against his redoubtable opponents, Bonthron and Venzke.

Venzke set the pace for the first lap. However, he slowed at the start of the second quarter and Cunningham took over, reaching the half-mile post in 2:05.8. He uncorked a dazzling third quarter—to open up an insurmountable lead and to raise the blood-pressure of 6,000 screaming fans to the breaking-point.

The big football timer at the open end of the Princeton horseshoe was running, enabling spectators to keep an eye on Cunningham's fire-scared legs and to watch the big second hand inch around the dial. If the Kanon could roll the final '440' in less than 60 seconds, Lovecock's 4:07.6 effort was "off the books".

Cunningham gave everything he had and "came home" in 5:59.1—40 yards in front of Bonthron in the break-taking time of 4:06.7. No one realized it then but the assault on the mile record had just started and no one in his right mind would have believed that two decades later two men from the opposite sides of the world would both "crack" the four-minute ceiling.

A comparison of the "quarter-limes" for the Princeton classic of 1934 and for last Saturday's thriller-diller indicates how two theories have changed down through the years and also accentuates that the mental block presented by the four-minute mile was the toughest obstacle of all.

Video Sports. College sports, ranging from basketball and track to skiing and bronco-busting, are going to have their opportunities to join college football on big-time television during the winter and spring of 1954-55.

This week the American Broadcasting Company lifted the wraps a little from the overall sports plan it apparently used in luring the NCAA's nationwide football program away from the National Broadcasting Company. The new ABC undertaking showed a 26-week winter and spring schedule of intercollegiate athletics.

ABC executives said that plans for their additional college sports presentations were not yet complete but they have started canvassing the nation's universities and colleges for the most attractive and video-genic programs. It will probably start in early December and continue down to the "commencement season."

Possibilities for the telecasts, all of which will be on Saturdays, include the Penn and Drake Relay Carnivals, the IFA Regatta at Syracuse, N. Y. (the "World Series" of rowing), the Heptagonal Track and Field Championships race in Princeton in early May, the Big Ten-Pacific Coast Track Meet, basketball in its assorted forms, the Dartmouth Winter Carnival and the Intercollegiate Rodeo annually sponsored by Colorado A. & M.

Last winter ABC televised a college basketball game each week over a network that covered the Atlantic Seaboard, Deep South and Middle West.

FROM GREEN TO BLUE—The man-on-the-green is Richard W. Kazmaier Jr., Princeton's fabulous two-year All-American Halfback, who within the next fortnight will be donning Navy blue as he enters upon an officers' training program at Newport, R.I. Kazmaier's partner on the Springdale Course is his former coach and ranking rooter, Charles W. Caldwell Jr., who in three short weeks will be opening his tenth season as Old Nassau's Head Coach of Football. Kazmaier, an honors graduate with the Princeton Class of 1952, is now an alumnus of Harvard University's School of Business Administration, where last June he was awarded his Master's Degree and again ranked in the top bracket of his class. At the end of 18 holes last week, coach and star pupil talked willingly about everything except two topics: (1) their scores for the day and (2) the number of games the Tigers will win in 1954.

Court Case

A persistent case of poison ivy which absolutely refused settlement forced the top-seeded team in the Community Red Feather Mixed Doubles Tennis Tournament to default its semi-final match. The poison ivy sufferer, Miss Lydie McKinney, together with her partner, John Mack, found it necessary to default to Miss Barbara McCambridge and Vernon Blackman.

Thus Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Smoyer, who advanced to the final round a week ago, met Miss McCambridge and Mr. Blackman for the title on the University Courts. The Smoyers in the semi-finals had turned back Miss Priscilla Cortel-you and Philip Diggon, 6-0, 6-2.

Trade circles reported that ABC paid some $2,000,000 for the football TV rights and speculated that the extra college series probably swung the deal away from NBC. Incidentally, NBC has countered with a comprehensive Saturday schedule of Canadian pro football, parts of which will be in direct competition with college attractions in this country.

Princeton's "best bet" for such a Saturday program, in addition the May Heptagonal Games in Palmer Stadium, appears to be a two-hour mid-winter sports goulash, including a swimming meet as seen through the underwater windows in the Dillon Gymnasium Pool, basketball, hockey, fencing and wrestling. Lacrosse adherents are also hopeful that "ABC can be made to listen."

MOONMIE

Little Susie wants a new short'n curly hairdo for the first day of school!

How do we know? Because our special scout, age 5 and one-half, tells us that the biggest crowd has adopted a non-mo-nie hairstyle and is hard at a campaign for shortcuts just like prommie's!

And why not? Nothing is more little than a little girl fashion, or better becoming to petti little heath, than a sweet short hairdo cut just enough to give the soft young hair that manageability. Little Susie will love it, and you will find it so much easier to take care of a factor worth considering!

Mothers are making appointments now for back-to-school haircuts and soft perms so that their small fry will be ready with proud—and pretty—heads when school bells ring. You won't want to disappoint Susie, so why not call for her appointment today?
